Dear Dr. Carlsson:

Rockefeller University and the Department of Psychiatry of The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center are planning a joint program of research in neuropsychopharmacology and related areas, with both clinical and basic science components. We have established a small committee including Dr. Joshua Lederberg, President of Rockefeller University, Dr. Altallah Kappas, Professor at Rockefeller University, Drs. Gerard Smith and William Frosch, Professors at Cornell University Medical College and myself. At present we are trying to gain some general perspectives on the field, its areas of potential growth, and the major figures in it.

We learned that you would be in New York City in May, and hoped that it would be possible for you to consult with us. We could meet with you Thursday, May 10th, or at some other time during your stay, at your convenience.

I will look forward to hearing from you. Please feel free either to write or to telephone my office collect (212) 472-5517.

Sincerely,

Robert Michels, M.D.
